FREEZABLE SHIPMENT POLICY

For those customers who ship products that must be protected from freezing while in transit, you MUST take the precautionary measures to make sure your product is protected.

- ✓ In a clear and conspicuous place on the bill of lading, you must notate “PROTECT FROM FREEZING”. The print must be larger and more distinguishable from other print on the bill of lading and highlighted or in bold print.
- ✓ Tagging the actual freight as being freezable is also recommended but does not fulfill the requirements of the bill of lading.
- ✓ When possible, deter from shipping “Freezable” on a Friday, as this is the time when they will sit in a warehouse or trailer and are more prone to becoming frozen.

We can only protect and become liable for those shipments with properly labeled bills of lading.
